JUSTICE JOHN CLEARS ACTION.

Always Ready to Defend the Power and Dignity of His Court-A Young Man Goes From Dissipation Into Crime.

The promised crusade for strict Sunday observance furnished an interesting topic of conversation for the habitues of the Police Court yesterday and they stood around the clumps before the court convened discussing the question in all its bearings and recalling many incidents of similiar campaigns.

One man asserted that the liquor men had a big fund laid up for just such fights and would use the whole power of the State Liquor Dealers' Association and even the national organization to combat

The announcement of the coming cru-sade has created considerable nervousness and every body is in the attitude of wait-ing for something to drop.

THE LION AROUSED.

The peace and quietude of the Police Court was broken in an unexpected way yesterday. Justice John came into the Big White Chamber with easy car-riage and his usual dignity. He gave his riage and his usual dignity. He gave his orders in modulated tones, even speaking gently to a man who had the hardhood to come into the Temple of Justice with a ligited cigar in his hand.

Indeed the chamber was pervaded by the deferential and hushed air of the United States Circuit Court of Appears and the whole proceedings were sootning and peaceful to the troubled minds in the audiences.

The case was one of a kind which frequently comes up. W. D. Creery, who was a morphine fiend and who, while under the influence of the drug became guilty of crime was tried in the Police Court, was sent to the grand jury of the Hustings Court and put under bonds for his good behavior for twelve months and sent to fall.

When he was tried in the Huslings Court the jury gave him a sentence of twelve months "flat." That time expired to-day and Justice John ordered the prisoner discharged. The jailor held that he could not do so without an order of the Huslings Court as the security time was first out and the man was serving the just out and the man was serving the sentence then of the "flat time" of the Justice John held that the two sentences went along together, otherwise a man who either court intended to punish for one year would serve a double sentence for a single offense.

The matter was referred to Judge Witt and he decided that the prisoner had also and he decided that the prisoner had al-ready served the sentence of his court and was therefore under the jurisdiction of the Police Court and that Justice John had a full right to discharge him.

Eliza Henderson, of crayon hue and much given to red and plated filigree in her much-plaited head dress, answered the charge of being drunk and disorderly and went to the pen in faultless attire, after having acknowledged her offense.

Thomas Harris saw a chance for some fun and whipped up his 'tandem mule team and crossed the street and called to Silas Mosby to close up the gap behind so as to block the way. Revival of Business Activity Extends | Richmond Delegates to Jubilee Con-

There is both interesting and instructive reading in the trade reports printed by the New York Commercial this week. C. & O. for Cincinnati yesterday afternoon They not only show that a good healthy to attend the Jubilee Convention of the condition exists in all lines of business at Christian Church. The party embraced condition exists in all lines of business at present, but indicate a volume of trade during the fall and winter that in many sections will be a record breaker. These reports which come from trade centres all over the country, show conclusively that no one section is prospering at the expense of another. In the farming cistricts, while some crops have been partial failures, others have more tann made up for such loss, and the consequence is that the agricultural community has more money and is more prosperous scaeraby than for years past. This fact is being brought out more distinctly every day. In most lines of retail and wholesaic business demand far exceeds supply, and at inwill.

Change of Food Cared Him.

What a determined and intelligent wife can accomplish, is well shown in the experience of a certain retired Major of the chill War, and his estimable wife. Punishment for Obstructing an Ambulance-A New Vehicle,

The City Hospital now has prosesion of the new Ambulance built under a recent order given by the Committee on Relief of the Poor. It is patterned after the New York ambulances, and contains, a new automatic stretcher. The tires are rubber, and the vehicle combines light-ness and durability.

The older of the two ambulances now in use will be utilized as a sick wagon to transfer patients to the city hospital. The Richmond ambulances have a great many calls and consequently only last a few years. The rapid speed at which they go and liability to accident makes it necessary that the best material should be used, and at the same time, not be cumbersome. They cost about $400 each.

Recently the ambulance has been de-layed frequently by drivers of vehicles who do not exert themselves to give way. A city ordinance requires that the ambu-lance shall have right of way and pro-vides a penalty of from $2 to $20 fine for obstructing the vehicle.

FRANCHISE TO BUILD CONDUITS

Brief History of the Acts of the City Council.

FACTS IN CASE EXPLAINED

City Hedged the Grant in With Restrictions and Will Charge Two Dollars Per Wire Per Mile, Street Committee To-Night,

As a misunderstanding seems to have arisen in connection with the conduit franchise granted to the Virginia Electrical Railway and Development Company, a few extracts from ordinances bearing on the subject will, doubtless, serve to clarify the public mind with regard to it.

On December 23, 1897, an ordinance was approved, the title of which was "An Ordiance to grant the Virginia Electric Company, of Baltimore city, permission to erect poles and run wires on the streets and alleys of the city of Richmond, and to construct sub-ways thereunder for the purposes of furnishing light and power by electricity."

electricity."

LIMITATIONS.

'The grant was subject to several limitations and conditions, included in which was "An ordinance to require the removal of poles and weres overhead in certain streets, and for the constructing and using conduits in certain streets." This ordinance was approved September 10, 1895. It says: "The City Council will grant permission to any company, corporation, partnership or individual to place its wires and electrical conductors under the surnership or individual to place its wires and electrical conductors under the surface of the said streets of the city," such persons petitioning the Council therefor and then prescribes in detail how the provision must be carried out. A charge of two dollars per wire per mile is to be imposed on all wires in the conduits, payable semi-annually and on and after January 1, 1999, the City Council reserved the right to charge such larger compensation as it might see fit.

TIME EXTENDED.

On December 22, 188, an ordinance was

On December 22, 1898, an ordinance was approved extending the time on the franchise in behalf of "the Virginia Electrical Railway and Delevopment Company—the assignee and successor of the Virginia Electric Company of Baltimore City,"

Again on April 29, 1895, the date of the time limit was moved forward. Every one who had followed the matter knew that the Development Company had been one who had been that the Development Company had been given the right to lay conduits, and also that the grant had been hedged in by that the grant had been hedged in by provisions which were considered ample to protect the city's interest. Quite a number of electrical authorities contend that $2 per wire per mile is a prohibitory tax. The fact that the privileze of laying conduits was given, was set forth in the title of the ordinance as is shown above.

Instead of trying to keep other concerns out of the conduit of the Development Company, the ordinance reserves the right to the city to require that other persons may be allowed to use them, and prescribes how the compensation shall be decided moon.
